During Linda's last admission, I was called at home by a co-worker. Linda was in full respiratory and cardiac arrest. I refused to the hospital and met two other nurses who were already in the medical intensive care unit with Linda. We hugged, cried and tried to console ech other. Though Linda had slipped into a coma, we stayed with her for hours, talking to her and stroking her. We vowed to support her in the final phase of her struggle.

The next day, after learning from the doctor that Linda's condition was hopeless, her parents decided to take her off the ventilator. As another nurse comforted them, I went to say good-bye to Linda.

Questions :

1. How does Linda's condition during her last admission ?

2. How many staff nurses were with Linda ?

3. Why Linda's parent's decided to stop the ventilator ?

4. What was her end stage ?

5. What was Linda's parents's decision when the doctor told the hopeless condition of her ?
