REGULATIONS AND SYLLABUS-(CBCS-University Department)

[For the candidates admitted from the Academic Year 2022 – 2023 onwards]

Name of the Department: Journalism and Mass Communication

Name of the Subject Discipline: Arts - Journalism and Mass

Communication

Programme of Level: M.A.

Duration for the Course: Full Time (Two Years- Four Semesters)

1. Choice-Based Credit System

A choice-Based Credit System is a flexible system of learning. This system allows students togain knowledge at their own tempo. Students shall decide on electives from a wide range of elective courses offered by the University Departments in consultation with the Department committee. Students undergo additional courses and acquire more than the required number of credits. They can also adopt an interdisciplinary and intra disciplinary approach tolearning, and make the best use of the expertise of available faculty.

2. Programme

"Programme" means a course of study leading to the award of a degree of MA Journalism and Mass Communication in Arts discipline.

3. Courses

'Course' is a component (a paper) of a programme. Each course offered by the Department is identified by a unique course code. A course contains lectures/ tutorials/laboratory work/seminar/project work / practical training/report writing /Viva-voce, etc or a combinationof these, to effectively meet teaching and learning needs.

4. Credits

The Term "Credit" refers to the weightage given to a course, usually in relation to the instructional hours assigned to it. Normally in each of the courses credits will be assigned on the basis of the number of lectures/tutorials/laboratory and other forms of learning required to complete the course contents in a 15-week schedule. One credit is equal to one hour of lecture per week. For laboratory/field work /field work, one credit is equal to two hours.

5. Semesters

An academic year is divided into two Semesters. In each semester, courses are offered in 15 teaching weeks and the remaining 5 weeks are to be utilized for conduct of examination and evaluation purposes. Each week has 30 working hours spread over 5 days a week.

6. Departmental Committee

The Departmental Committee consists of the faculty of the Department. The Departmental Committee shall be responsible for admission to all the programmes offered by the Department including the conduct of entrance tests, verification of records, admission, and evaluation. The Departmental Committee determines the deliberation of courses and specifiesthe allocation of credits semester-wise and course-wise. For each course, it will also identify the number of credits for lectures, tutorials, practicals, seminars etc. The courses (Core/Discipline Specific Elective/Non-Major Elective) are designed by teachers and approved by the Departmental Committees. Courses approved by the Departmental Committees shall be approved by the Board of Studies. A teacher offering a course will also be responsible for maintaining attendance and performance sheets (CIA -I, CIA-II, assignments and seminar) of all the students registered for the course. The Non-major elective programme and MOOCs coordinator are responsible for submitting the performance sheet to the Head of the department. The Head of the Department consolidates all such performance sheets of courses pertaining to the programmes offered by the department. Then forward the same to be Controller of Examinations.

Course 1: Communication and Presentation Skills

In the present day information revolution and formation of knowledge societies, centers etc, the importance of communication has increased manifold. Communication is an important facet of life. Communication skills are essential in all spheres of life. The success of an endeavour hinges on the ability to communicate effectively in today's fast paced life, everyone is asked to do more with less. In such a scenario effective communication holds the key. Using the right tools to communicate the right messages at the right time can salvage a crises and motivate people to work towards success.

Communication raises aspirations, Project the future in the present, Raise awareness. Meet information needs. Communication is for development of the individual organization, society, nation, country. Good communication is essential for proper planning and coordination. Effective communication has a special role play, particularly in an under developed country like India where most of the workers are illiterate. Better communication helps better job performance. Effective and timely communication promotes cordial relations and work culture among the employees for increasing production and creates healthy and happy environment within and outside the organization.

'Communication' is a key instrument to create relations, to strengthen relations between the two people or a group of people. Without communication methods, there is no human relation and human relations rehire effective communication methods, tools, positive words, skills etc.

Considering the need and importance of the students, the Department of Lifelong Learning has conducting the Course - Communication and Presentation Skills for other department students under CBCS. This course will more appropriate for all students particularly for Education, Arts and Management faculties.
