ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

Open-source software (OSS) is freely available for anyone to see manipulate and users have the freedom to run and distribute the software without any restriction. Open source software requires a greater scale of computing responsibility than commercial software. Digitization process requires huge money to create and maintains whereas OSS appears to be a means to reduce the expense.

D-Space is the software of choice for academic, non-profit, and commercial organizations building open digital repositories. D-Space preserves and enables easy and open access to all types of digital content including text, images, moving images, mpegs and data sets.

The working Library professionals with little technical skills can handle the technical challenges at contemporary environment in the academic institutions. The workshop will be helpful to the Library professionals to get technical exposure on knowhow of digital library.

OBJECTIVES OF THE WORKSHOP

1. To know the impact and benefits of the Digital Library creates in the academic institutions.
2. To explore the OSS infrastructure adopted at minimum investment and to get maximum benefits for the Libraries.
3. To provide hands on training on creation of Digital Library through OSS to the academic library professionals.
