Trees not only supply us with many of the conveniences of our daily life, they do much more than that. They support the life of living things. They help to replace the oxygen in the air constantly being used up and turned into carbon-dioxide when animals breathe and things burn. The green leaves of trees absorb the carbon-dioxide from the air and with help of sunlight break it up into carbon and oxygen. The carbon is used to make starch and oxygen is released into the atmosphere. That is how trees help to replace the oxygen in the atmosphere.

The green cells of leaves are wonderful little laboratories, where all the starch is produced. Since starch forms an important of the food of men and animals, their life depends on the work done by the green cells of plants. Thus trees are great friends of man.
