The department has conducted a Refresher course, two UGC innovative courses and 13 National Conferences/Workshops. The Department has done consultancy services to various industries.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The field of greener synthesis is providing new and powerful tool for the environmentally benign reaction processes. The goal of greener synthesis mainly deals with the creation of better, safer chemicals while choosing the safest and most efficient ways to synthesize them and to reduce wastes. The application of green synthesis is becoming more widespread because of its diverse applications in almost all areas of science. It is essential for the researchers, educators and developers from academic institutions and industries to perceive recent trends and developments that have been made under various aspects of green synthesis. The Department of Industrial Chemistry, Alagappa University, Karaikudi is organizing a national level conference on Recent Trends in Green Synthesis (RTGS-2011) to bring together renowned experts from academic Institute and industries for a comprehensive and wide ranging program. This conference will have technical session through invited lectures by eminent and leading experts and young researchers in this field. It is sure that the discussions of this conference will go a long way in promoting research and development and will lead to great benefit for the rural mass by their participation in the conference.
